How is land in a strata scheme valued?

Land values in NSW are determined under the Valuation of Land Act 1916. Land value is the value of your land only.

The Valuer General is responsible for determining the land value for the whole site of a strata scheme.

Property sales are the most important factor considered when determining land values.

The valuation will take into consideration the most valuable possible use for the whole site. This may exceed the current level of development on the site.

Individual land values are not made for each lot in the strata scheme.

Mass valuation

Land subject to a strata scheme is valued like most other land in NSW, using a mass valuation approach.

This is where properties are valued in groups called components. The properties in a component have similar attributes and are expected to experience similar changes in market value.

A representative property in each component is individually valued as at 1 July each year to determine how much the land value has changed from the previous year. This change is then applied to all properties in the component to determine their new land values.

Why is my land valued?

Land values are used by local councils for rating and the Office of State Revenue (OSR) for assessing land tax.

Rating

When councils receive new land values for rating, the Valuer General provides a Notice of Valuation to the strata scheme’s representative showing the land value for the whole site of a scheme. Council uses this land value for working out rates. The Valuer General does not issue a notice to each unit owner.

Land tax

The Office of State Revenue (OSR) uses land values to determine taxable land value for registered, liable landholders. The strata unit land value is recorded on the land tax assessment issued by OSR.

The OSR can be contacted at www.osr.nsw.gov.au or phone 1300 139 816 (within NSW) or 02 9689 6200 (interstate).

Can I have my land value reviewed?

To request a review of your strata scheme’s land value, an objection must be lodged by:

• the owners’ corporation or its managing agent for the Notice of Valuation relating to council rates.
• a land tax liable unit owner for a strata value issued on a land tax assessment.

An objection must be lodged within 60 days. The last date to object is printed on the front of the Notice of Valuation. Land tax clients have 60 days from the issue date printed on their land tax assessment.

Our review kit helps you lodge an objection. It contains an information booklet, objection form and a valuation sales report listing a selection of the sales of our valuers considered when making the valuations.

The best supporting information will generally be sales of development sites suitable for strata units. Sales of individual units can also be used as supporting information for your objection.
